

AMELIA DUBOIS- MODERN LANGUAGES AMBASSADOR

My name is Amelia Dubois and I am a senior from Overland Park, Kansas studying Educational Studies and Social Sciences with a minor in Spanish. I chose Spanish because I became aware of how fast our Spanish-speaking population is growing in the United States and wanted to be able to help myself and others overcome that barrier in every day life, and in my future career. Spanish has helped me immensely already outside of the classroom. I keep myself busy outside of school with my job as a bartender and manager at a local restaurant, as a CASA volunteer, and with my legal internship. I use Spanish nearly every day with Spanish-speaking coworkers at the restaurant, and during my interviews for CASA and my internship they were very pleased to see Spanish on my resume. Although I do keep myself very busy with all of the above, I love relaxing by being outside--whether it's going on a walk, run, or just sitting and enjoying the weather. After my graduation this May I plan to move to Boulder, Colorado and pursue law school and a legal career--and put my Spanish towards good use that way.
