Introduction to Political Science

Dr. Nathaniel Birkhead

July 7-August 1

This course is exclusively available to Boys State participants.

This course builds on the learning experience of Boys State and provides an overview of the discipline of Political Science by:

- Explaining the nature and purpose of political science as a discipline
- Differentiating between the various sub-fields of political science
- Developing an understanding of the ideas and concepts that shape the study of political science

There are two goals for the course:

- 1) To give students a broad conceptual foundation in political science
- 2) To help students be informed citizens by thinking critically about the political world
